Jim and I have a large collection of books, mainly fiction, which we would be happy to lend to people who are running out of reading material.

Once you have chosen a book, phone 01548 550826 or email annefowler@btinternet.com to check availability. We can also discuss delivery – someone may need to collect it for you. – and I can put books in an envelope or bag, depending on size. When you have finished you can return it to our post-box or doorstep (1 Tidal View Close, the pink house on the right of Fore Street coming up from the pub) then just ring the bell after leaving the package on the doorstep.

The following books are available. Some of the older ones are set in a smallish font, so check before you borrow if this might be an issue. An asterisk by the author's name means we have other books by them, but they are quite old and brown. We also have old copies of several classics (Austen, Dickens, Hardy, etc.) so ask if interested.

It might be a good idea to Google a title in advance to see what other people think of the book and whether you might enjoy it.
